Eddie Brown, who went into center in the second inning, had a great day at bat, getting a double and two singles in three appearances.

Manager Bill Donovan and Catcher Frank Brugby were ordered off the field by Umpire Quigley in the first for disputing his decision on the fairness of Young's three-base hit.

George Kelly, the Giants' heavy hitting first sacker, slammed out his ninth home run of the season when he hit a ball into the left field bleachers, with Brown on base. The circuit clout put Kelly in a tie with Meusel of the Phillies for National League home run honors.

CHAPTER XXXVII.

Americans Misunderstand Our Plans.

WE had heard that the Americans did everything in bunches and we expected that after our great reception on our arrival in New York we would be just as public personages in the rush of happenings that keep the minds of inhabitants of a great city occupied. However, to our great surprise, we continued to be greeted by great crowds every time we appeared on the streets. We were feted and dined, I shall always remember the pride that thrilled me when I was made a guest of honor at a wonderful dinner given by the International Sporting Club.

The presence of a former Governor, prominent State and city officials and officers of the army and navy of course flattered me when I thought they had been gathered together as a mark of tribute to me. But what impressed me most was when a large bouquet of beautiful flowers was presented to Miss Carpentier.

In this connection I can say that I never shall forget the nice things the Americans did and said about my wife. Naturally, she felt a little strange in coming to America and at times she was a bit homesome when I was forced to be away from her for any length of time, but she told me that it was all forgotten by the nice way she was treated. Even the servants at the hotel went out of their way to make her feel perfectly at home.

After all this nice treatment it came as a great shock when the press suddenly changed its attitude and started criticising me. I don't mean all the press nor do I mean to criticise some of the papers that did say unkind things about me, because I know it was all the result of a misunderstanding.

The papers said that I had come over to fight the world's champion, Jack Dempsey, and not to engage in motion picture and theatrical work, where I could get a lot of easy money. Some of the writers quoted a statement from Descamps coming up the bay on La Saviole that I was ready to fight Dempsey within a week. As far as that is concerned I was ready to fight Dempsey then and that is the point that Descamps tried to make. He knew very little English and misunderstood the questions asked him.

We were then under contract with Charles B. Cochrane, the London promoter, which bound us to him all during the year 1920. Descamps tried to tell the newspaper men that I would fight Dempsey if some American promoter would enter into a partnership with Cochrane or if Dempsey would agree to fight for him. However, Descamps couldn't

40 RAIDERS SHOOT UP IRISH LAWN FETE
Auto Stolen, Another Burned. One Man Wounded, While Women Faint in Melee.

DUBLIN, June 1.—Armed men made an attack upon the residence of the Hon. Edward Donoghue O'Brien, at Roselawn, Ennis, yesterday, and in the fighting that ensued one person was wounded. A tennis game was in progress when forty men suddenly appeared. They commenced firing, some bullets entering the luncheon tent on the grounds, injuring W. H. Ball, who was sitting there.

A motor car was stolen and another was burned during the raid. Several women fainted while the melee was in progress.

DUBLIN, June 1.—Six soldiers and one civilian were killed and twelve of the troops and a priest were wounded in the reported ambush near Youghal, in Cork County, according to latest advices. The attacking party of Sinn Feiners was routed after hard fighting, but if any of them were wounded they were taken away by their comrades.

There were two innocent victims of the encounter. The Rev. T. Roche, a Catholic curate, being driven to mass, came into the line of fire and was wounded in the foot. His driver and his horse were killed.

Standard Oil Building Is Over-Assecced.
The Standard Oil Company of New York to-day obtained a writ of certiorari from Justice Tierney calling upon the Commissioners of Taxes and Assessments to explain their reasons for assessing the property of the oil corporation at No. 26 Broadway at $5,450,000. The petitioner claims that the assessment is $5,000,000 in excess of what it should be.

AMERICAN WOMEN GOLFERS OUT OF BRITISH TOURNEY

Four Survivors Defeated by English Opponents in Third Round of Championship.

TURNBERRY, June 1 (Associated Press).—The third round to-day of the British ladies' open golf championship saw the hopes of the American golfers of reaching the final dashed by the elimination of the four Americans who survived the second round. The end came quickly when Mrs. R. H. Barlow of Philadelphia, Miss Edith Cummings of Chicago, Mrs. Q. F. Feitner of South Shore, L. L. and Sara Fowles of Pittsburgh went down to defeat in rapid succession before their opponents.

Canada was equally unfortunate. Miss Ada Mackenzie of Toronto, former champion of Canada, being eliminated by Doris E. Chamberl of Wirral in an exciting match which went to the twentieth hole.

The Americans to-day hardly displayed their earlier form, and, with the exception of Miss Cummings, they were defeated by substantial margins. Joyce Wethered of Worpleston disposing of Mrs. Barlow by five up and four to play, Janet Jackson, the Irish champion, beating Mrs. Feitner by eight up and seven to play, and Mrs. Cautley, former champion of Kent, beating Sara Fowles by six up and five to play.

The match in which Miss Cummings was defeated by Joy Winn of Airdburgh was the best match in which the Americans participated. It was a nip and tuck affair to the turn where both were all square. It

WADE'S WIDOW TELLS OF FINDING HIM AT NOTT HOME

Says She "Introduced" Couple Accused of Murder After They Had Met.

(Special to The Evening World.)
BRIDGEPORT, Conn., June 1.—Mrs. Mary Berry Wade, widow of Edward B. Wade, took the witness stand to-day to testify against Mrs. Ethel Hutchins Nott, whose husband was murdered Aug. 29 last and for which crime Wade was hanged and Mrs. Nott is now on trial. Mrs. Wade followed Wade's mother on the witness stand.

Mary Wade testified that she inroduced Mrs. Nott to her husband on July 5 of the year preceding the murder. "I later learned they already knew each other," she said. She told of going automobiling with her husband and Mrs. Nott before she suspected their relations.

Two weeks after "introduction" she followed her husband to Mrs. Nott's home, she testified. She was accompanied by Wade's father, who suspected their relations.

Mrs. Nott came to the door and denied Edward Wade was inside, the witness testified. An involuntary cough, however, gave Wade away. Then Mrs. Nott pleaded with Mrs. Wade, the latter testified, not to tell George Nott, her husband, of the incident, promising if she would say nothing, Wade would not again call at her home.

Mrs. Eva Mulligan, who was a prisoner at the County Jail with Mrs. Nott, identified letters as ones written, or printed, by Mrs. Nott at the jail. The letters had already been identified by Wade's mother as letters written to her son by Mrs. Nott and turned over to the mother prior to Wade's execution. The letters were partly in code.

The witness gave the meaning of the code words as they occurred in the letters.

Mrs. Nott's children and her mother are in court to-day.

Why New York Prefers Camels

New York demands a quality smoke—and finds it in Camels. For Camel is the quality cigarette. And it leaves no cigarettey aftertaste.

Back of Camel quality are many economies which we practice in making and marketing them.

For instance! The Camel package is the most perfect packing science can devise to keep cigarettes fresh and full flavored. But you find no flashy frills or needless expense that must come out of the quality of the tobacco or go on to the price. These costs are unnecessary because they do not improve the smoke.

Then too, Camels are sold only in one size package—20 cigarettes—just the right number to make the biggest saving in production costs. And remember this! When you buy 20 cigarettes in smaller size packages, you must pay for two handlings in packing and for two separate packages—instead of one.

These are two reasons why you get Camel quality at so moderate a price.

Here's another. This company has never resorted to employing men—in the guise of disinterested citizens—to spend their time in hotels, tobacco stores and restaurants to boost Camels. Camel Quality does not require artificially inspired enthusiasm.

Such methods increase selling costs to a point where the smoker cannot possibly get his money's worth.

Camels are made for men who think for themselves. To such folks Camel Quality does its own talking. When you smoke Camels you don't need anyone to tell you what you like.

You KNOW.
